Money Talks is a series of financial teen guides geared for teens 14 through 18 years of age. A team of University of California Cooperative Extension advisors and specialists developed the series and its accompanying leader's guides. The colorful teen guides are six to twelve pages in length and contain hands-on activities to assist teens in grasping important financial concepts. The leader's guides and Spanish teen guides are not available for sale, but can be downloaded for FREE from our website: moneytalks4teens.org.
